

CHRISTMAS AT THE TOMMYFIELD

Tis the season to be jolly and we'll be pulling out all the festive stops this winter at Kennington's landmark tavern The Tommyfield.

The Tommyfield takes its name from Britain's first fish & chip shop and the pub takes inspiration from Victorian chophouses and food markets. Vintage tiles, exposed brick and bespoke steel chandeliers make for a 21st century city pub, whilst the emphasis on excellent seasonal and sustainable produce – including chicken, pork and lamb from our farm – certainly fits the bill.

Whether you're after a place to let your hair down with colleagues, a lively meal with friends (and crackers) or a full-blown seasonal banquet to remember complete with a private room and waiting staff, we've got Christmas covered.

*"With seasonal British food, local ales and chatty staff,
The Tommyfield is everything a pub should be."*

ABOUT RENAISSANCE

Renaissance is a small collection of pubs in South London run by local boys Tom, Mark and Nick, who opened The Abbeville in 2003. Five other pubs have followed, each with its own unique character.

Ten years on, there has never been a better time to celebrate with Renaissance as we ring in our first decade with the launch of our award winning TEN London Gin, TEN House Red & White Wines and superb London TEN Ale.

At Renaissance our ethos has always been to do the simple things well and add a dash of flair. Our excellent ales and superb value wines are matched by dishes featuring free range produce from our own farm in Hampshire and sustainable fish from English day boats.
